Commercial Shipment Of Avocados From American National Growers May Indicate Trend To New Crop

By Bill Reece
Special Events Editor
PORTERVILLE, Nov. 3 — The words "Packed In Porterville" appeared on yet another label last week when the American National Growers dispatched the first commercial house shipment of avocados grown in this area to coastal markets. Producers were Pat Foran and R. J. Owens. Although the size of the order (30 boxes) isn't calculated to raise eyebrows of the southland producers, the quality of the fruit and the fact that it is going to market some seven weeks ahead of their own, probably will.

In fact, our ability to produce the fruit weeks earlier is one of the reasons why some local producers claim that Porterville will eventually become the Avocado capital of the nation just as it has in the production of Navel oranges.

Another is the decided asset of being able to produce the table delicacy on what is now non-pro-

Small photo at left shows the avocado pack. This is believed to be the first shipment of avocados out of Porterville by a commercial shipper, and may foreshadow a new agricultural business in the Porterville area. It is possible that the avocado production business in this area will expand, and that it may be in about the same economic situation that the orange industry was 70 years or so ago.

Arranging a program, attended by some 200 persons, was A. C. Tienken, of Lindsay. The Lindsay high school band played during the ceremony, and, at the request of Mr. Stagg, who was not able to be present, football players from Lindsay, Porterville, Exeter and Tulare participated. Represented were communities of southern Tulare county, as well as Stockton; speaking was State Senator J. Howard Williams; Charles Geoble, Pete Wells and Isaac Gonzalez, of Porterville, were members of the official color guard. (Other pictures on page 6—Farm Tribune photos)

COUNCILMEN BELIEVE DIRECT SERVICES SHOULD PAY THEIR WAY

The city of Porterville has three major sources of funds for operation of city government: 1. Taxation, in several categories; 2. Fees and licenses; and 3. Charges for certain services rendered, specifically garbage collection, water delivery and sewage disposal.

At present, city councilmen are studying the necessity of raising rates in the latter three categories in order to keep these services on a realistic operation-in-the-black basis. The problem in connection with garbage disposal is probably the simplest; water is more complicated; sewage disposal payment plan, originally set up primarily to retire bonds on the sewage disposal plant has its special problems.

We say "necessary raising of rates" because it is the attitude of the present city council that the three "public utility" operations of the city — garbage, water and sewage — should pay their way, realistically; that charges for these services should be sufficient to take care of cost of operation.

Now, how does the council figure cost of operation? Well, just about like any business man figures his costs, except that the city does not have to take taxes and profit into account. The city does have to figure, however, not only the actual day-to-day costs of operation, but also depreciation of equipment, with depreciation being sufficient to provide funds to purchase new equipment as the old wears out. And it must figure some sort of prorated cost for administration of these "utilities."

In the case of garbage collection, this is relatively simple, in that wages, operation of pickup trucks, and administration can be determined quite accurately. Added to these costs must be a depreciation schedule on equipment sufficient to build up a reserve fund to replace garbage trucks as they wear out. Basically, the rate for garbage collection is then determined by dividing the number of customers by the total cost of operation, with variations, of course as to types of service.

One other important factor must be considered here. The city must face the fact that a new site to handle garbage disposal must be secured in the not too distant future. This means a capital outlay cost, and, almost certainly, greater hauling distance, which, in turn means more operating expense. This must also be considered in any new garbage collection rate scale.

In the case of water rates, the same general idea of cost determination prevails, however, the case becomes more complicated, since the water system includes several miles of water mains, some of them a half-century old. Big problem is to determine a realistic depreciation figure, an "educated guess" as to just how long these old mains will hold up, and some sort of estimate as to future demands. To which we add, "It ain't simple."

However, unless figures are determined, and unless rates charged cover costs, then it becomes necessary to dig into general tax funds to pick up the difference.

It is the opinion of present city councilmen that citizens of the city are willing to pay a legiti-mate fee for the direct service they receive. Further, councilmen believe that in fairness to all, these services should operate in the black.

In fact they must operate in the black, otherwise the only alternative is to increase taxes.

In general, the same reasoning applies to the sewage disposal system as to the water system.

Now there are certain other city services, such as fire and police protection, maintenance and construction of streets, operation of city parks, for example, that can only be charged to the general public and financ-

But direct services — those, councilmen believe, should pay their way and not lean on general taxes. This is the basic reason for the current study of service charges.

However, on the bare chance the nation will survive the election, we are stocking up on many varieties of plants. This week will see hundreds of new Camellias arrive. These will be loaded with buds, extra healthy, and in more varieties than you can afford.

Already in stock are Azaleas for eighty nine cents, which are either blooming or about to, and Chrysanthemums in full bloom for sixty cents. At this price you can hardly afford to steal your neighbor's. Especially as she may sell you two tickets on a turkey, or to a turkey, while you're there. We're on "E" Street just north of Olive.

The only thing the politicians haven't promised us is a ban on ticket selling. We would vote twice for any man promising to end all money raising schemes which require contributions or tickets. This would end not only the problems of having to buy but the even worse horrors of having to sell. We have a choice selection of one dollar tickets we'll trade for two fifty cent tickets or what have you.

We also have some choice Holland grown bulbs which we'll trade you across the board for tickets, campaign buttons, or other items. These bulbs should be planted now because after the election it will be too late. At least if all that each side says about the other is true it will be.

YOUR LEGISLATOR AT WORK!

Senator
J. Howard Williams
32nd District
California State Legislature

E Day minus four, three, two.
As the countdown to Election Day goes inexorably on it's no wonder that our attention is sharply concentrated on the results of fateful Tuesday. Most legislators have a very big personal stake in the outcome, because they're candidates. All their thoughts and energies are focused on success.

Every one of us is conscious of the fact that during his term of office he has participated in making legislative decisions which greatly affect his district, our state, and sometimes, our nation. Every one of us knows that, by the very nature of things, such decisions cannot be universally popular, and perhaps, neither will be the part he took in making them. But the purpose of the jobs to which we are elected is to make laws, and every one of us must stand on his own record.

My experience as your Legislator has convinced me that there is only one sound and equitable way to decide how to cast my vote on legislative proposals. That is to get all the facts on a particular issue from all parties concerned, then to use those facts in arriving at my conclusion. That way, the record speaks for itself.

This is a Presidential election so the forces at work which will affect the outcome are both different and stronger than those in off-year elections. Party feeling in both major groups is much more intense. Of course, most of it is concentrated on the national race, but there's a lot of it left for the legislative contests, too. The big difference between this and off-year elections lies in the fact that competition for your attention — you, Mr. and Mrs. Voter — is so much tougher.

To my way of thinking, these differences should not be permitted to obscure the importance of our state Legislature, and the need of electing the most capable individuals to it. I think it pays all of us to recall every now and then that the states are the fundamental units of our nation, and that our national government is only a federal union of the states.

Perhaps I, as a member of your Legislature, should not put too forceful emphasis on the subject. A famous California historian summed it up shortly and pointedly. He wrote, "it rarely occurs to the average citizen that these state legislatures supply the motive power for the entire mechanism of American government in nation, state, county and city."

It's our job as your representatives to pass the laws which decide who will be eligible to vote. What Senate or Assembly district will include your residence, under what terms you compete for and find jobs, and under what conditions you hold property. Those responsibilities are imposed upon your Legislature by our California Constitution, so common sense indicates that every voter has a really personal concern in making sure they are carried out properly.

In closing this column, I want to make full use of the opportunity to urge every voter to go to the polls on Tuesday. Not only will you get a chance to vote for the President who will lead our nation for the next four years, and for one or two Legislators, but also for or against 15 important state propositions, ranging from water bonds to Senate reapportionment. To get the kind of law you want, cast your vote on every one of them.

All of us will, of course, await the results of the election with considerable interest and emotion. But once the various contests are decided, we will forget differences to work together for the good of all.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

If It's A Boy

• Hospital Care

Q. What is the best age for circumcision? Is it always desirable?

A. The time-honored age for circumcision is about the end of the first week of life but it can be done earlier just as well. Give the doctor leeway by making arrangements before the baby arrives. For young babies the procedure is simple and all but painless — later it's quite painful. Aside from the important factor of personal hygiene, there are other possible advantages of circumcision. There is evidence that local cancer in the male and cervical cancer in married women is less frequent among people who routinely practice circumcision.

Q. What is meant by "progressive" hospital care?

A. It is a method of tailoring hospital services to the needs of the patient. The very ill patient receives round-the-clock attention comparable to that provided by private duty nursing. As the patient improves he is given intermediate care as needed. The last step is assignment to a self-help unit. Here, the almost-recovered patient does nearly everything for himself. This method, now being tried in a number of hospitals, is intended to provide better overall services without additional cost to the patient.

Referendum Vote On Cotton Marketing Quotas Is Scheduled For County And Nation December 13

VISALIA, Nov. 3 — Cotton growers will vote December 13 in their annual referendum to determine whether to use a system of marketing quotas for the upcoming crop of upland cotton. Chairman Charles Slaughter, Tulare County ASC committee, has announced.

If approved in the referendum, the system of quotas would apply to the 1961 cotton crop. This would be the eighth successive year in which quotas have been in effect for upland cotton.

Upland cotton quotas have been proclaimed by the Secretary of Agriculture on the basis of an official determination that the estimated total supply of cotton for 1960-61 will amount to approximately 21.7 million running bales, or about 3 million bales above normal. The law requires the proclamation of quotas by October 15 in any year when the total supply exceeds normal. Quotas do not take effect, however, unless approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum.

In announcing the upland cotton program for 1961, Chairman Slaughter pointed out that only one allotment price support program will be available to growers for their 1961 cotton crop. Legislation provided the so-called Choice (A) and (B) programs only for 1959 and 1960.

The national cotton allotment for 1961, he said, has been determined at 18,398,424 acres, compared with 16 million acres in 1960. This 1961 national allotment, plus a national reserve of 60,000 acres, will be broken down to States and counties, and individual farm allotments will be made available to producers before the referendum. The 1961 farm allotments as compared to 1960 may vary considerably in the extent to which they reflect the national increase. Mr. Slaughter said.

If marketing quotas are approved in the December 13 referendum, price support will be available to growers who comply with their farm allotments at a level within the range of 70 to 90 percent of parity. As in other years, the exact level of price support will be determined later. Growers who exceed their farm acreage allotments will be subject to penalties of 50 percent of the June 15, 1961 parity price on the farm's excess production of the crop. In addition, none of the upland cotton produced on the farm will be eligible for price support.

If marketing quotas are disapproved for 1961, acreage allotments will remain in effect and price support will be available to cooperators at 50 percent of parity, as provided by law.

TESTS TO AID IN SELECTION OF COLLEGE COURSES

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 3—Over 400 Porterville High School seniors have taken part in a standardized testing program given for the benefit of all entering college students.

The tests included the English Placement Test, College Ability Test, and the Otis Quick Scoring Mental Ability Test.

The information gained from the test results will aid both high school and college counselors to determine courses which must be provided to meet the needs of the students, and to plan courses of study, according to Arthur Van Horn, director of academic testing for the college.

NATIONAL COTTON CROP DOWN SLIGHTLY

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 3—The national cotton crop for 1960 is estimated at 14,553,000 bales, about 5,000 bales below the 1959 crop; the 1949-58 average crop is 13,710,000 bales.

The indicated 1960 yield for the United States is 450 pounds compared with 462 pounds in 1959 and the record high of 466 pounds in 1958, the crop report shows. Cotton yields are lower than last year in most states, with California the only state indicating a record high.

Firmness and Freedom....

Vice-President Richard Nixon's confrontation with Communist Dictator Nikita Khrushchev: The Free World watched and cheered.

or APPEASEMENT and APOLOGIES....

Which do you want?

Again and again and again, in the Great Debates, candidate Kennedy has advocated policies of appeasement that in the past have led to war. He has run down his own country's strength and accomplishments before the eyes of the world. He has advocated domestic policies that would hike our taxes, lower our standard of living, encourage a disastrous round of runaway inflation, and inflict Government controls in countless areas of our everyday lives.

Instead of standing firm against the brutal belligerence of Khrushchev, candidate Kennedy has suggested that an American President should apologize for protecting America from another Pearl Harbor.

In sharp contrast, Vice-President Nixon—and Ambassador Lodge—know that to keep America strong and free, our country's leaders must believe in freedom—for Americans and people of good will everywhere.

Richard Nixon knows that America can't continue to win the race against Communist Russia if we retreat from our proved system of freedom, and fall into the pattern of an all-powerful Government that controls every aspect of its people's lives.

'DEDICATE GIANT REDWOOD TO AMERICA'S GREAT COACH, AMOS ALONZO STAGG, IN CEREMONY ON NORTH SLOPE OF JORDAN

ROUCH CAMP, November 3 — America's Grand Old Man of Football, Amos Alonzo Stagg, was honored Friday morning, when a Giant Redwood was dedicated to him during a ceremony on the north slope of Jordan peak.

A dedicatory plaque was unveiled at the tree, located on Rouch property, which is privately owned and surrounded by the Sequoia National forest.

Participating in the program was the Lindsay high school band; colors were presented by veterans of Porterville and Lindsay; invocation was spoken by the Rev. William H. Phillips, of the Lindsay Methodist church; master of ceremonies was Neal D. Barker, Lindsay's Man-Of-The-Year for 1960.

Introductory remarks were given by A. C. Tienken, of Lindsay, chairman of the Amos Alonzo Stagg Dedication committee; Jack McComber, accompanied at a portable organ by Mrs. J. R. Fillmore, sang "Trees"; speakers included Roy Feuchter, of the recreation staff of Sequoia National Forest; State Senator J. Howard Williams, and Merle Flattley, athletic director at Lindsay high school.

Presenting the Stagg Dedicatory plaque was Alden Munson, representing the Rouch family; accepting in the name of Mr. and Mrs. Stagg was Edward Beatty, from the Stockton chamber of commerce. Representing the College of the Pacific, where Stagg concluded nearly three-quarters of a century as a football coach, was Ford Chatters, Lindsay publisher and a member of the college board of trustees.

Benediction was spoken by the Rev. Charles Crouch, of the Lindsay Church of the Nazarene. At the request of Mr. Stagg, football players were present at the ceremony from Porterville, Lindsay, Tulare and Exeter; communities of the southern San Joaquin valley were represented in the crowd of some 200 persons attending.

Following the ceremony, lunch was served at the Rouch logging camp by members of the Rouch family.

Cheesecake, the genuine variety, is actually as ancient as the Parthenon. It was the piece de resistance of Greek cuisine, poets wrote sonnets about it, and a village was named for it.

THE REV. Terry Stoker, of the First Congregational church, welcomes Henrique Sukuakueche, African Christian, who is conducting a series of meetings in Porterville, as well as in Tulare and Fresno, during "Mission To America" week, now in progress. Sukuakueche has taught for 30 years at the Currie Institute in Dondi, Angola.

BY BILL RODGERS

WE THE People are privileged to elect certain of our fellow men, come November 8, who will serve as our representatives at various levels of government — including the highest level, a president of the United States.

AT THIS top level there has been considerable of a campaign underway in recent weeks, as you well know, and it may be that true issues of principle are a bit fogged by more spectacular and politically expedient issues of campaign strategy.

WE WILL vote for Mr. Nixon and Mr. Lodge, rather than for Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Johnson, because we believe that the relationship of America with the rest of the world in the '60s will be of major importance. Both Mr. Nixon and Mr. Lodge have years of experience back of them in the field of international relations, including dealing with the Russians. This is extremely important; and we simply don't buy the Kennedy statements that America is at a low ebb in world prestige. Just open the gates to immigration and this point would be disproved immediately by the surge of people into America from any iron curtain country they could get out of, and from other countries as well.

WHEN IT comes to talking turkey with the Russian top brass, we want Mr. Nixon and Mr. Lodge talking, not Mr. Kennedy, who suggested an apologetic attitude toward the Russian's Mr. K.

NEITHER DO we buy the domestic calamity howl of Mr. Kennedy. When we look around at people, at business, at agriculture, at the sphere of the nation immediately surrounding us, we don't see economic collapse; we see tremendous economic gain over the past seven and one-half years. We don't sell America short; neither do Mr. Nixon and Mr. Lodge.

PERHAPS THE most important issue on principle in this campaign involves the role of government. We can't buy Mr. Kennedy's philosophy of expansion of big government, the philosophy of the Great White Father in Washington taking care of us all, the philosophy of increasing federal power and expenditure to create a system in which people become more and more the servant of government. We believe that the least government is the best government, that government should be kept as close to home as possible, that the federal government should live within the constitution of the United States, that federal government does only those things that concern the nation in total — those things that cannot be accomplished at levels of government closer to home. Believing this, we also believe that Mr. Nixon comes closer to our thinking than does Mr. Kennedy.

AND, OF course, there is the matter of training and experience — something in which Mr. Nixon and Mr. Lodge stand head and shoulders above Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Johnson in world and domestic fields.

FINALLY, WE must call attention to the importance of trends in politics and in government. Changes do not occur over night, except in cases of extreme emergency. Change in government is a constant process.

Our Town

By GARDNER WHEELER

ELECTION IS NEXT WEEK — AND NONE TOO SOON!

NEXT WEEK IS ELECTION WEEK, and not a moment too soon, we say. There has been so much hot air loosed off here and there about the countryside that the electorate is close to suffocation. This hot air doubtless has caused the unseasonal warmth in atmosphere, hereabouts, leading to such weighty observations as, "It's sure warm for this time of year."

NEXT WEEK, OUR CITIZENS 'round and about will march sturdily into the polls located in such quaint places as garages, warehouses and even school rooms. Here they will mark the big X on the ballot. It's hard to misspell X. The main test will be to zero in on the right square.

AT THE VERY OUTSET of our Constitutional government, the concept of two parties sprang up. On the one hand, were the Federalists, who had a very able spokesman in Alexander Hamilton; until he had a misunderstanding with one Aaron Burr and tangled with the wrong end of a duelling pistol. Hamilton had one major theme: that the common man (they even used that cliché then) was incapable of governing himself. Hence, central government should be strong and big and paternalistic, and should regulate the lives of the citizens; sort of an old style, "Father knows best" attitude.

ONE THOMAS JEFFERSON took a very dim view of such talk and held that individuals were capable of governing themselves through collective efforts, and that they did not need the guidance of super-thinkers to manage their daily lives. Mr. Jefferson's point of view, more or less prevailed, and government settled down to regulatory functions with an occasional war thrown in. In this climate of encouraging individuals and individual initiative this country grew great, and it is still great. True, there were abuses, but they were corrected, and the end result was a very high standard of living, indeed.

THEN, SOME TWENTY ODD years ago, big government was again expounded, and this time with much more success. The bait used on this occasion was some vague reward known as "security". If the citizens would give up certain rights, the government would take care of them.

UNFORTUNATELY, NOTHING COMES free in this world. To gain this elusive "security".

John Q. Public has given up more and more. Government has grown, because it takes a lot of man power to handle subsidies, insurance, welfare and regulations A to Z. And as government has grown, so have the tax bills.

WE HAVE NOW COME TO THE point where one candidate stands before us and states that he is going to give more of everything to the electors; more wages, more subsidies and more big government. The only fact missing in these wonderful promises is where is the money coming from. One guess: from the taxpayers, of course. Kennedy's pie in the sky is a luxury we can ill afford.

CUTTING AWAY ALL THE miasma of campaign oratory, we detect that the other candidate, Nixon, still has faith in individuals and their capabilities, and still holds that the government's functions is to aid individual enterprise; not supplant it.

THIS COUNTRY IS GREAT. It showed it by standing four years of Harry Truman. Four years of Kennedy is apt to overtax its greatness.

This Is Why It Is Time To Change To POWER IN THE ASSEMBLY

POWER PLEDGES that he will oppose tax increases designed to create partisan or special interest political machines and will oppose the trend toward "Big Government."

The Incumbent Assemblyman (Frew) has voted down the line with the Brown administration to create some 50 new state agencies and commissions, and to increase your taxes $218,700,000, the largest single general tax increase ever passed into law in any state.

POWER PLEDGES to oppose such legislation as the infamous A.B. 419, the bill that would have opened the gates of our farm fields and the doors of our business houses to the labor boss.

The Incumbent Assemblyman did as he was told by the Brown administration and voted in favor of this bill.

POWER PLEDGES to oppose such bills as A.B. 1223, the bill that would have regulated wages so as to put Tulare and Kings county agriculture in an unfair competitive position with other sections of the nation.

The Incumbent Assemblyman did as he was told by the Brown administration and voted Yes on this bill.

REMEMBER THIS

In 1959, the farmers of Kings and Tulare counties were forced to march on Sacramento to kill, in Senate committee, A. B. 419 and A.B. 1223.

FARMERS SAID "NO"

FREW SAID "YES"

POWER STATES that he believes sincerely in the principle of individual enterprise, with the role of government being to guarantee to all people an opportunity to earn a fair and just return from their investment and from their work — that because he believes this, he will oppose legislation that seeks to regiment and control any segment of the economy.

The Incumbent Assemblyman, by his voting record in the State Legislature, supports the "planned economy, big government" philosophy of the Brown administration, with its resultant regimentation and machine politics control.

POWER PLEDGES that his allegiance will always be to the people of the 35th Assembly District — to the people of Kings and Tulare counties.

The Incumbent Assemblyman, by his voting record, has proved that his allegiance is not to the people of his counties, but to the Brown political machine.

WE BELIEVE that if Mr. Kennedy is elected president — and we believe this on a basis of what Mr. Kennedy himself says — trend nationally will be more and more toward centralized federal government, something in which we do not believe. If Mr. Nixon is elected president, we believe that federal government will continue to play a strong role, but trend will be away from centralized federal government, something in which we do believe.

NOW, HOW about you? On November 8 we must think in terms of principle, not in terms of strict partisanship nor in sometimes sentimental campaign issues. And, for goodness sakes, let's rise above the "what's in it for me" approach.

To shore up the holes in his starting line, McDermott has moved Larry Kirby from fullback to his old job at center. Allan Franks and Don Hard, a convert-and John Vaughn and reserve

Paul Cone will open at tackle.
The starting ends probably will be Cary Gardner and Johnny

In the backfield, veteran Don

Darl Boyett at wingback, Larry

Gentry at fullback.

McDermott said the spirit of

Time Out

THE OLD MEAT-GETTER MUST HAVE A CROOKED BARREL

We journeyed into the wilds of the low Sierra foothills Saturday morning in search of our final buck of the 1960 Deer season.

Before leaving, we carefully placed ten cartridges in our pocket, patted old meat-getter and took a couple of practice sights down the barrel. We noticed then that the barrel appeared to be a little crooked, but that was at 4:30 a.m. and most things look crooked at that hour in the morning.

By 6:00 a.m. we were stealing along a foot path, peeping under bushes and behind rocks. Once we found a fresh track and trailed it a half mile before we walked up behind a lumbering, white-face steer. Soon after this we were tip-toeing, weapon at port arms, when we heard a crash in the brush ahead. We looked up in time to see a deer with the storied rocking-chair-like rack of horns on his head as it disappeared over a small rise. We double-timed to the place where he had disappeared and spotted the deer running about 50 yards away. We cranked off a round and wounded a rock about six feet over the animal's back. The deer then disappeared in the rocks and trees. We picked out a clearing he had to run through and waited. When he appeared again we aimed in and squeezed the trigger. The resounding "click" informed us that we had forgotten to eject the empty cartridge in the chamber.

Needless to say, the deer escaped unscathed. It has returned many times in the past week to haunt us and each time its horns grow larger in the mind's eye.

Later in the morning we toiled to the top of a barren brown hill. A surprisingly large number of deer hide in the few rocks and trees in that area. We were limping along a steep trail when we saw a small forked horn running across the face of the mountain below us. Since the distance was fairly short and there were no obstructions or hiding places we drew a bead on the animal with a good deal of confidence. The first shot did considerable damage to the wild oats behind the deer and the second dislodged a large brown clod that had lain undisturbed for centuries. The third raised a cloud of dust that will add materially to the valley's air pollution problem. The fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh shots we do not remember, as it is a well-known fact that the human mind seeks to blot out unpleasant incidents.

Finally, we stood with empty chamber and empty pocket. It was then that the little buck quit running and began feeding contentedly about 200 yards away. We called upon the heavens to bring down lightning to strike the animal dead. But we got no help, so we just sat down to wait for the animal to die of old age.

Soon after that our father-in-law, Jim Rutledge, came wandering along. He was kind enough to loan us his rifle, which is equipped with one of those unsportsmanlike scopes, and we managed to put the buck down.

Later, that afternoon as we were driving out, we borrowed a cartridge for a test shot to see how far off our rifle was. We aimed at a rock two football fields away and squeezed the trigger. The rock suddenly leaped into the path of the projectile

YOUTHS TRAIN FOR MODEL LEGISLATURE

TULARE, Nov. 3 — Some 15 teenagers from the Tulare County Y.M.C.A. will meet with 400 other students Saturday, October 29, at Stanford University for the initial training session of the 1961 YMCA Model Legislature in Sacramento, next February.

The high school boys and girls will elect officers and receive advice from adult experts on how to go about developing legislation they must write in preparation for the citizenship training event.

Officers to be elected by the would-be politicians representing about 35 Northern California YMCA's are Youth Governor, Assembly Speaker, Senate President and we scored a direct hit. We were tricked by fate once again.

But as we sight down the barrel of our weapon this week a very definite S-shaped twist is beginning to take form. We are sure that it will worsen as the black incident of last weekend grows sharper in the mind, and is told and retold.

Pro-Tem, Senate Secretary, Senate Chaplain and Assembly Sergeant-at-Arms.

The Lieutenant Governor and the rest of the officers were elected by Southern California students during another training meeting at Occidental College last weekend.

Lewis Stroh, Y.M.C.A. secretary, said this is the 13th year the local "Y" has participated in the annual youth legislature.

"For three days in Sacramento the youths will learn about State government by making it work for themselves as officers, senators, assemblymen, clerks, newspaper reporters and lobbyists", he said.

"In the meantime, each interested student will prepare for the event by studying and writing a legislative bill. One of these will be selected as the Tulare County Y.M.C.A. delegation's bill, and the young people will attempt to get it passed by both houses and signed by the Youth Governor during the Sacramento session."

African Teacher From Church School Visits This Week

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 3 — The traditional Christian missionary "sending-receiving" relationship will be reversed this week as First Congregational church of Porterville plays host to a native African Christian, Henrique Sukua-kueche. Most of this "Mission To America" week of October 31 to November 6 will be spent in the Porterville church, with an evening each at Tulare First and Fresno College Congregational churches. He will be entertained in homes of church families.

For 30 of his 53 years, Sukua-kueche has been a teacher of Bible and Music at Currie Institute in Dondi, Angola. This school is under the joint supervision of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions of the Congregational Christian churches and the United Church of Canada. It is the only secondary school for Africans in the vast central area of Angola and has an enrollment of about 250 boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 20.

CHAPEL CHIMES

By Rev. N. J. Thompson

At different periods during the Middle Ages, it was fashionable for a lady of rank to wear the coat of arms of her husband's family and her own. Startling, it must have been, to see a noble dame in a dress yellow in front, ornamented with gorgeous red lions rampant; and the other side white, with black embroidery! To complete the costume, a tight blue jacket trimmed with ermine and a steeple-shaped hat.

However, a historical writer points out, "Small attention was paid to cleanliness. The English thought the French were exceedingly extravagant because they changed their ruffles once a week, and put on a clean shirt once a fortnight."

We need an honest and vigorous moral clean-up, nation-wide. But when our minister points his finger from the pulpit, we console ourselves that he couldn't be pointing at us!

Maggie cleaned the house thoroughly last Friday. She dusted, swept, and mopped. Saturday she found dirt from somebody's shoes on the carpet. Monday she discovered dust had settled on the piano again.

At conversion we "clean house" thoroughly. But as we rub shoulders with a world stained with sin, some of the dirt rubs off on

Improve Soil Texture and Water Penetration with Sunland Cover Crops

Your best low-cost source of humus and nitrogen for vineyards and orchards is a good cover crop. Sunland Brand Purple Vetch, Canadian Peas, Small Seeded Horse Beans or Mustards are Valley-proven cover crops. Buy and plant Sunland Brand cover crops with confidence. Put nitrogen in your soil the natural way and improve soil texture at the same time. Humus loosens tight soil and adds body to light soil for better tillage and water penetration for bigger, better yields.

Plant now, broadcast or drill, so the fall rains will sprout the seeds. Get a fast start for a full growing season. Now, Niagara recommends inoculation of cover crop seeds with Nitragin C Culture for better, richer stands. The cost is low but results are high.

For a low-cost, profit-building cover crop program, see your local Niagara Field Representative or call SUNset 4-6795.

ductive land, such as our rocky slopes. Which, according to the avocado enthusiasts, we are now viewing in their last barren state. Practically all of the present acres now set out to the crop are on such soils.

What made it all possible was the development of several new varieties specifically adapted to our climatic conditions. Among these are the Zutanos which appear to be best, or at least, the most popular at the moment. However, all of the new varieties are capable of withstanding our extremes in temperature which for forty years was the bugaboo in the growing of the pear shaped table fruit, as far as our area was concerned.

Whether our area will be able to match the 1,000 box per acre production of the southern growers is too early yet to determine, but, the present production of the half-matured trees seems to indicate that we can. If so, then the growing of the crop could well become our highest per acre income producer.

The five finalists for the title of queen — all Porterville college students — are: Carla Cloer, Kari Guion, Linda Lindgren, Ann Pittman and Lynda Todd.

Highlights of the Homecoming program will be the morning parade, November 11, that will move down Main street at 10 o'clock, featuring floats, bands, mounted groups and old-time vehicles.

Playing for the official Grand Ball of the celebration will be Cousin Herb Henson, and his Tradin' Post gang from Bakersfield; with him will be western singing and acting stars, Tex Ritter and Hank Morton.

Following the parade the Orange Belt Saddle club will be in charge of Jackpot roping at the Rocky Hill arena, and pioneers of the community will gather at the Porterville high school cafeteria for their annual tea and reception under direction of the Porterville chapter of the Native Daughters of the Golden West.

Go-cart racing is slated for the afternoon at the Porterville municipal airport.

Prior to, and during the celebration, a carnival will be in operation just north of Tule river on Plano road.

Named last week as grand marshal of the Homecoming parade was John Wilcox, pioneer cattleman of the community; riding with him as deputy grand marshal will be his wife, Janette Marshall Wilcox, great-granddaughter of Chief Justice John Marshall.

To be given away at midnight, November 11, is a Comet car, and other prizes.

The Homecoming celebration is under sponsorship of Post 20, The American Legion, and Mt. Whitney Post 2001, Veterans of Foreign Wars; co-chairmen are immediate past commanders of these two groups, John Herrell, Legion, and Ray Flores, VFW.

Playing key parts in celebration planning are: Isaac Gonzalez, VFW commander, and Pete Wells, Legion commander; Jim Lasure and Bob McDonell, dance; Dewey Jackson and Clarence Lienweber, parade; Mrs. Jean Griner, parade secretary; Harry Torres, general committee secretary.
